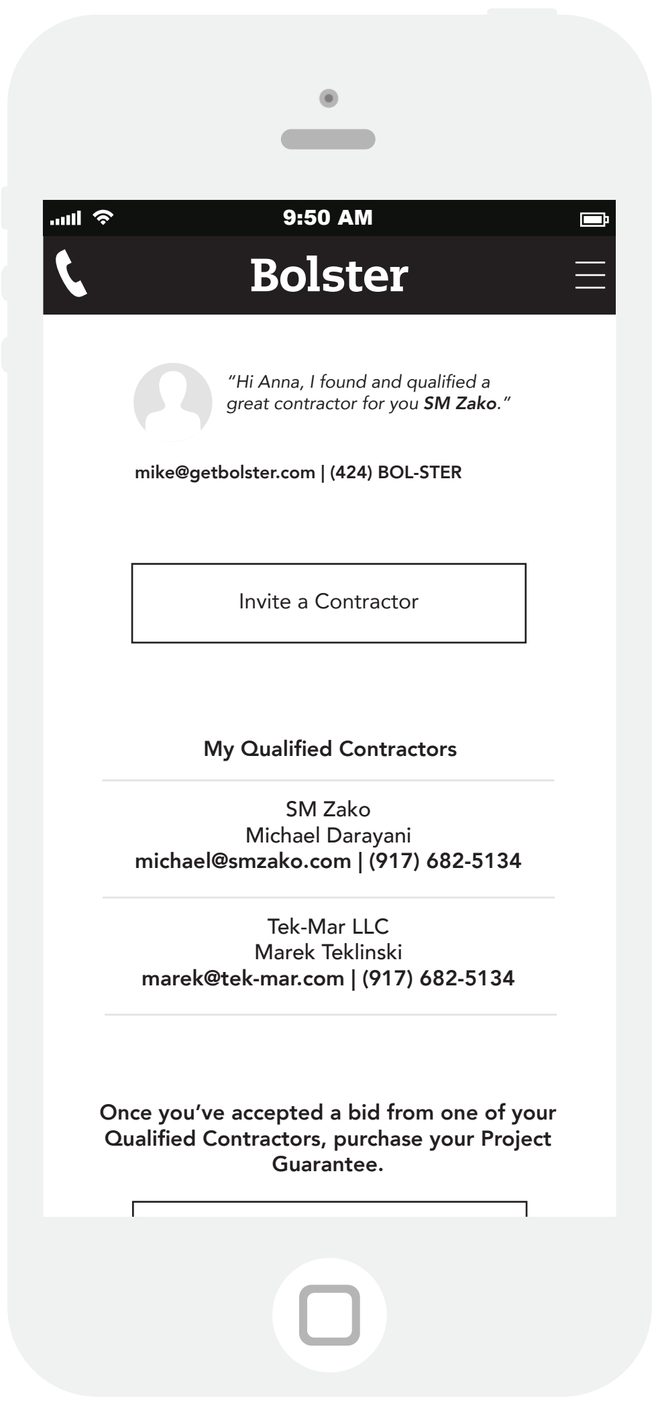
Two contractors qualified. (One was invited, the other referred.)



From the users perspective, why should I care if a contractor was invited or referred? And even if I did, I invited the contractor... meaning I know them. I think having a notification "You invited X" is unnecessary and takes up space.